
POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS REPORT

Reporting Period: July 1 – December 30, 2020

The success of Exelon Corporation (“Exelon”) depends on sound public policies at the national, state, and local levels. Political contributions are made to candidates, political parties, and political action committees, in furtherance of public policies that are based on sound science and support the company’s goals of maintaining affordable, reliable, and clean energy for our customers and communities. Consistent with our commitment to ethical business conduct, political spending reflects Exelon’s interests and is not based on the personal interests of any of our individual officers, directors, or employees. Furthermore, no contributions are given in anticipation of, in recognition of, or in return for, any official act.

Included in this Report

This report includes a listing of political contributions made by Exelon and its subsidiaries for the above noted reporting period. Specifically, this report includes:

- All contributions to candidates for political office, political parties, or political action committees (PACs)
- All contributions to entities organized and operating under 26 U.S.C. Section §501(c)4 or §527
- Contributions or dues of $50,000 or more paid to trade associations and other similar non-profit organizations.

This report is reviewed by the Corporate Governance Committee of the Exelon Board of Directors semi-annually.

Compliance with State & Federal Law

Exelon complies with all federal, state, and local laws as well as reporting requirements governing corporate political contributions. Federal law prohibits corporations from making contributions to candidates for federal office. State and local laws dictate the conditions under which corporate political contributions can be made.

Political Action Committees (PACs)

Exelon and its subsidiaries have several bipartisan PACs that are funded solely through voluntary employee contributions. These PACs offer eligible employees a direct means to voluntarily participate in shaping public policy and expressing views on issues related to our business. Exelon provides limited administrative support to each PAC. Additional information is available on the website of the Federal Election Commission at www.fec.gov or state board of election websites.

The disclosures in this report do NOT include contributions made by any of Exelon’s PACs.

Political Contributions Guidelines

In the interest of transparency for our shareholders and stakeholders, Exelon posts its Corporate Political Contributions Guidelines (“Guidelines”) on its website. These Guidelines are intended to provide corporate governance, oversight, and procedural guidance for corporate contributions of money, property or services for political activities and expenditures in areas where permitted. All political contributions are made in accordance with these Guidelines.
